FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ann and Mark Baiada Receive Honorary Degrees from Neumann College

May 28, 2007 — Moorestown, NJ — Ann and Mark Baiada, the wife and husband team, who is respectively a director and founder of Bayada Nurses, co-delivered the 2007 commencement address at Neumann College, in Aston, Pa. The Baiadas received honorary degrees at the ceremony, which was attended by over 550 graduates.

University President, Dr. Rosalie M. Miranda, presented the honorary degrees to the Baiadas for their outstanding contributions made to society, to those in need of care, and to the common good. According to Dr. Miranda, the Baiadas "are an exemplary model for the College's mission of service to others as a means for human beings to experience true rewards."

In their remarks, the Baiadas engaged and inspired the graduates with their insightfulness. "A 52-inch flat screen does not give you vision. Jewelry is a treat, but real sparkle comes from inside. Designer shoes won't make you walk tall," they commented.

They concluded with ten rules for life.

1. Open your heart.
2. Use your head.
3. Be nice.
4. Dream big.
5. Your parents DO know better than you.
6. Family is everything.
7. Hold on to your friends.
8. Grow up. Don't grow old.
9. Work hard.
10. Support Neumann.
